Dear

Re: Your request for access to information under Part II of the Access to Information and Protection of Privacy Act, 2015 [JPS/6/2020]

On January 27, 2019, the Department of Justice and Public Safety (JPS) received your request for access to the following records:

“Public records relating to the Catherine Carroll murder case (St John's, 01.01.1991). Gregory Parsons was convicted of the crime on 15th February, 1994, but later exonerated. The perpetrator, Brian Doyle, was sentenced on Jan 31, 2003. I would like to request the public records in the above case. Items I am seeking (if available) include police reports, court transcripts, interview transcripts, Greg Parsons 911 call recording dated 02 Jan 1991, police dispatch recording dated 02 Jan 1991, evidence photographs, police interview footage - Brian Doyle - from both 1991 and following his arrest in 2002, Brian Doyle custody images, footage from the undercover sting which took place in Ontario in 2001 and resulted in Brian Doyle's arrest.”

The records you have requested would either be under the custody and/or control of the courts or the Royal Newfoundland Constabulary (RNC).

Court records fall outside the scope of the Access to Information and Protection of Privacy Act, 2015:

5. (1) This Act applies to all records in the custody of or under the control of a public body but does not apply to
 - (a) a record in a court file, a record of a judge of the Court of Appeal, Trial Division, or Provincial Court, a judicial administration record or a record relating to support services provided to the judges of those courts; states that “This Act does not replace other procedures for access to information or limit access to information that is not personal information and is available to the public.”

While court records fall outside the scope of the Act, documents that are part of a public record can be accessed through the courts. For more information regarding this process, please visit their website at <https://court.nl.ca/>.

In order to access police files that are not part of the public record with the courts, you would need to submit a request directly with the RNC. The contact information for their coordinator is:
